Chapter One: The Beginning Of The End

One day there was this girl, her name was Akira Ohmon which is me. I loved my village dearly until one day i had been asking my parents, my father the king of dragons and my mother the queen of humans, if i could take my first adventure beyond the gates.

my parents were not on board with me going outside the castle walls because of me being half dragon i was worth a lot of money.

we had argued for years if i could go outside the kingdom walls, but it had always been a no, until one day i was sick of my parents telling me what to do so i went to her room to go to bed early, then i had grabbed my cloak to hide my horns and wings. She snuck out her palace and went for the gates.

It was pitch black so I could barely see anything yet i had still wanted to see the outside world. I kept running far enough away from the castle until i couldn't see the lights, after running for long i decided to set up camp for the day.

when I awoke i was very confused where i was but then i realized i was out in the woods.

Chapter One: the Beginning of the end

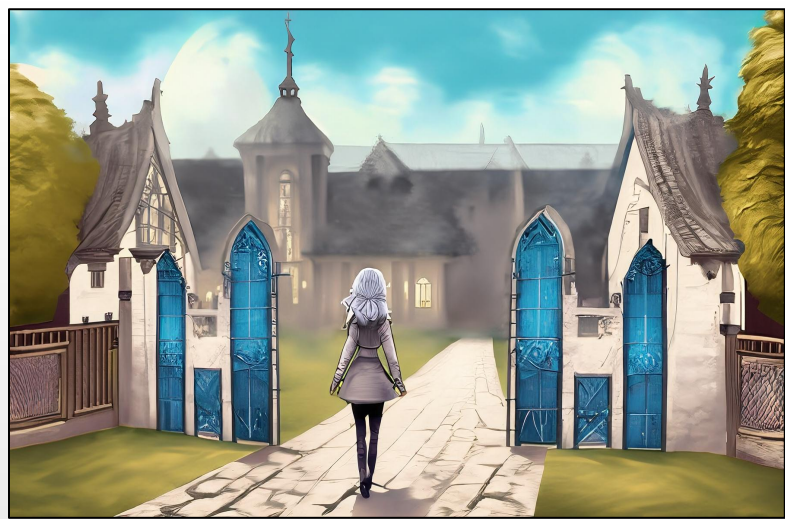

I was terrified but this is what I wanted but at the time I just wanted to go home. I started packing my camp then I started trying to find my way back home, but right then I smelt smoke I at first thought it was maybe some campers, until I pushed my legs up and saw my home palace set ablaze.

I then ran toward it as fast as I could. I couldn't believe what I was seeing, the whole village was in ruins with smoke coming off of them, I had crumpled to the floor.

I screamed calling out to anybody that was there until I spotted a green flag with a dark blue symbol on it.

I didn't know how or why but the town of dwarves did this to the enchanted village of dragons but I knew I needed to go after them and make them pay for what they did. I got up from weeping on the ash gravel and put my cloak on and was on my way to find the dwarves.

Chapter Two: Setting off

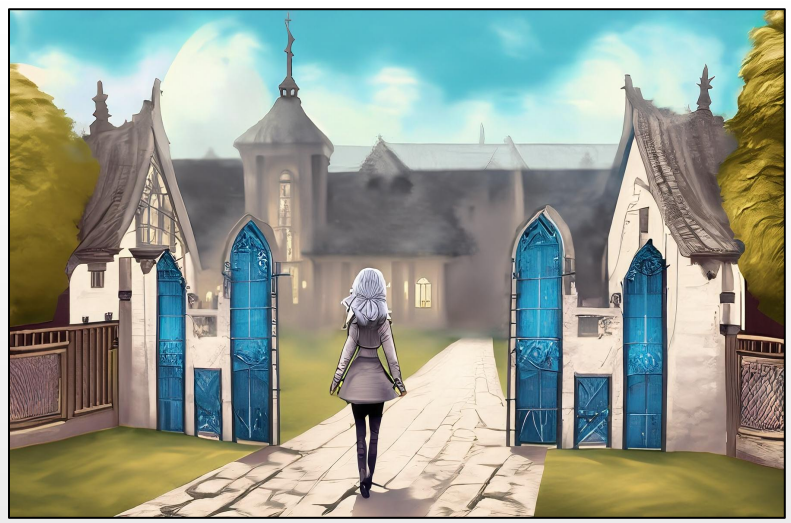

When I decided to leave my home I wanted to see if I could find anything that was still salvageable or maybe some survivors, until I found my childhood friend without her wings, and then it finally hit me. The dwarves killed my village for making weapons to make more money. I was heated by rage but I decided to make a proper burial for my childhood friend.

I managed to find some manka that was still bagged up for selling and a barrel for water. I then decided to go to the nearest village. I shapeshifted into a regular human just in case I would get caught and killed. I got rid of my wings and horns.

I saw the big blue and white gates and took a deep breath and walked in. I saw a little girl and boy running around, I smiled remembering my life back at the village.

Chapter Two: Setting off

I started walking deeper into the village to try and find a cafe of some sort but then a guard stepped in front of me "I haven't seen you around here before, are you new?" the Guard asks.

I look up shaking fiercely and answer " oh yes, yes, I am new here!"

The guard eyes me down while I try hard not to fall to my knees and weep. I peer up at the soldier and he says " well have a good day miss, don't be out too late. Maybe consider staying the night in the village there's a good motell about a block away" he says with a smile.

I eye him up and then smile and look over to wear the guards pointing " oh, thank so very much i'll consider it!" The guard waves goodbye before disappearing behind the building. I let out a big breath and say out loud "better get going"

Chapter Three: the village of humans and a new friend

I wake up in a cold sweat " another nightmare" I Murmur.

I've been getting those alot lately. I get out of bed and get ready i'm in the middle of brushing my hair when i spot a little mouse in the corner of the hut. We make eye contact then he scitters away. Weird.

I run out of the hut because suddenly i'm starving, and I make my way towards a bread stand. "One loaf of bread please" I ask politely

The old lady takes by money then gets the bread, I can smell it already and my tummy is growling so loud.

i'm so very hungry. Then I spot that little mouse again. The tiny black mouse scurried away. A little weirded out I turn the corner eat up my bread and shapeshift into a cat while no one's looking, maybe the little mouse can be a snack for later.

I run into some kids playing and the little girl calls me over with a click to her tongue.

Chapter Three: the village of humans and a new friend

I run towards her so I can get a quick look at her face. She a little girl roughly 6 or 7 years old, i look behind her and see her little brother maybe 3 years old or so. The little girl is the first to make a move, she picks me up gently and kisses me on the forehead and says "we won't hurt you little one! We just wanted to say hi! Well we have to go, bye!"

I can't hold it in anymore and i shapeshift into my normal form with wings and she sees and immediately picks up her brother and runs away and calls for her mom. Shoot I didn't even get their names. I run towards my hut to grab my stuff and get out of the village as soon as possible. I open my wings and fly towards the village gate and I see a black mouse waiting for me in my bag we make eye contact and he turns into a boy and smiles. I nearly drop my bag from how stunned I am. I keep flying until im far enough from the village I can't even see it. I sent down my bag with the boy inside of it and start to think about what the heck just happened.

Chapter Four: The fire.

I slowly lower myself down to the ground, and I open my bag to see the mouse again. "I saw your true form so might as well show me again!" I say to the mouse standing before me.

He jumps out of the bag and turns into this boy with blonde hair and says smiling "Hi there! My names alfred, i'll be traveling with you from now on!"

I jerk my head back and eye him up, he looks maybe my age or a year older, he has sandy light hair and bright green eyes. "How old are you" I ask

" 16 almost 17" he says with a smile

"Why do you want to travel with me out of all people?" I ask the mouse boy

"well first you can protect me, and i don't think you want people to know your a dragon right?" he says

" fine you can travel with me. You said your names alfred right? Where's your parents?" I ask

"Dead, I need to avenge their deaths. That's why i need to come with you." alfred says in a stern voice, totally different mood from just a minute ago.

" who killed them?" i say looking into his eyes.

" the dwarves" he says in a quiet voice.

His eyes drift to a squirrel eating a acorn.

Chapter Four: The fire.

I look at him and I say " well let's go get them"

He looks at me and nods his head. " turn into a mouse so you can get in by bag and we can fly away." i say smiling at him.

We talk for hours, and i tell him about what happened to my village and why im trying to find the dwarfs and he told me that he was trying to find them to avenge his village and how the kidnapped his sister and alfred was trying to get her back. we fly around for a bit then find a wooded area and head to sleep for the night until there a big boom and i wake up with alfred staring wide eyed at me. "What happened!" quite yell to him.

" I have no idea i just woke up, we should go check it out" he says in a whisper.

We both get our weapons and run towards where we heard the boom.

I'm the first to see flames towering over little villages and people weeping and holding their young. I look over at alfred and see him point to something, i whip my head over to where he's pointing and squint at people throwing fire and i see the logo. The dwarfs. I run toward one of them to make sure its the dwarfs. I look around and see people trying to run away. I tell alfred to get the bystanders out of there and he does what as he's told and watches me fight off 3 dwarfs. Im almost down but then i turn into my true form. A dragon.

My wings are big and blue with the fire flowing under me, alfred watches me in awe. Everything's going good for a bit i'm fighting some dwarfs and alfred is taking care of the villagers, but then i see this person i think a witch throw a sleeping potion on me and the last thing i remember is falling and getting tied up with alfred and getting taken out of there.

Chapter Five: Captured

I wake up with something on my face so it's completely dark.

"Alfred?!" i yell with a raspy voice

"Yea?!, Is that you akira?" i hear from my left

"Yea it is, what happens where are we?"

"Thank goodness your safe. We were taken from the village. They knocked you out with a sleeping potion then you turned into your human form then they took me." he says

"I'm coming to get you"i say quietly

I turn into a snake and slither out of the shackles and blindfold, i turn the corner and see alfred wiggling around in his mouse form. "There you are why are you a mouse?" i say to him.

"I tried to get away so i turned but the got me with the potion.." he says with watery eyes.

I turn around and see the keys on a sleeping guard, just got to get them without him waking up. I slither my way towards the guard and bite his neck.

"My snake venom should knock him out for a few hours" i tell alfred.

I get him out of the cage and i turn back into a human and we make our way towards the main hall.

We decide that it would be safer to try and get as far away from the dwarfs as possible right now.

We turn the hall and see the king with all his guards, it weather now or never.

Chapter Five: Captured

"Alfred, im gonna get him." i say eyeing up the king

" what should i do?" he says looking down

" go to the front gate and ready up two horses were getting out of here when i'm done" i say

"Ok i'll see you then akira, Be safe." he says running away

I look towards him and smile then look back at the window where the king is looking at all the flowers. Within a second im breaking the window open and already on the ground. I turn into a snake and paralyze all the guards and turn back into a half dragon half human. I approach the king and say "you thought that you could murder the whole dragon village and the mouse village and get away with it? Oh, and kidnap a poor little girl that can shapeshift?" i say looking down at the man that thought had so much power now shaking and almost crying on the ground.

" don't kill me please i needed there skin for making new creations!" he says turning red.

"Where's the mouse girl?" i say almost yelling

"We took her in for questioning to know if there where any more mouse villages. We killed her" he says

I look at him stunned "well i guess we're just gonna have to show you how everyone you killed felt, Huh? To bad for you!" i say smiling at him.

Right as i say that i see a arrow fly and hit the king in the chest i look up and see alfred " he was gonna stab you he had a dagger in his hand. Im sorry.

I look up at alfred with the crossbow in his hand. I start to fall and then all i see is black.

Chapter Six: the end of the beginning

We had to get out of the palace as soon as we could or we would have been killed. Alfred told me everything that happens because when alfred killed the king there must've been something in that sleeping position they gave me because i had passed out. We never did find alfred's sister apparently her name was sarah. we decided that it would be safer for me and him to stick together for the time being. With now nothing to do we decided to find somewhere to stay.

After weeks of looking we were in the woods and there was this abandoned cottage and it was full of flowers like the dragon village so we decided to live there for now. Alfred's shown me his home town it's full of ash and i've shown him mine witch is also full of ash. I make sure to visit the dragon village once a week to pay my respects.

4 months later

Me and alfred have been living together in the cottage and going on adventures together finding many new things and making new friends.

We decided to visit my home land once more and we had been cleaning up the ruins and we found a note, it had said "dear akira, there had been a attack on the village, we don't know where you are but we hope your safe. If you ever see this note go to the monster village east, Love mom and dad."

I look at alfred and we decide to take a new journey to see the monster village.
