Chapter One: Where it all started

Over 600 years ago Vulcan and his family went out into the ocean to go surfing, him and his family loved surfing, especially Vulcan. He loved the way the wind would blow through his scales and loved the sound of the waves as they crashed into the shore. He just felt like he was soaring in the sky, bouncing around on clouds not thinking about anything, he enjoyed it, Vulcan was having so much fun that day then his parents got a call.

"Hello?" said Vulcan's father. "

"We are under attack!" screamed the Army General with chaos in the background.

"We'll be there shortly!" answered Vulcan's parents in distress.

Soon enough they left the beach and sent Vulcan off with their driver and they sped back to their house. On the way back Vulcan had sweat running down his face he could barely understand what was happening.

"Are my parents gonna be ok?" Vulcan asks while tears are running down his face.

No response from the driver as he is focused on trying to get home. The next day as Vulcan wakes up he has all of the higher ranks making a tunnel for him to the general, as he makes his way toward the general he sees some of the people crying, once he gets to the end the general starts to say, "your parents have died" crying, leaving Vulcan in complete shock. Vulcan realized a few days later that it's now his duty to lead the Sun.

Chapter Two: "Welcome to the Sun"

At this point it had been about 300 years since Vulcans parents died and the Sun is doing great everyone is happy, everyone accepts one another but sadly even though Vulcan knows he tries his hardest everyday he knows deep down people still don't respect him, No matter what he does. No one respects Vulcan. He too has to wake up like everyone else and do the same thing each day and if he's not in the right mindset he can't get done what he needs.

Vulcan always wakes up everyday to go to work and doesn't feel like he is respected for what he does he leads the planet to greatness, helps all of the people to live their best lives, he does the best he can as the king of the Sun. Vulcan hides how he feels with a smile or a light wave so people don't show sympathy for him only because he feels sad or is upset, this is also so other people are happy even if he's not so he doesn't bring other people down just cause he is.

Everyday on the Sun though is a great day for almost everyone most people drive around having a great day and go out doing whatever they want to do for fun and just have a great time because of Vulcans work on making the Sun an overall fun place to live. And making so no one has to work from 9am-5pm everyday except for himself that is, he is always thinking about the people when he's at work he'll do whatever for the people even if that means putting himself last.

The Sun is just the best place ever and the most amazing planet to live on and you can do almost anything you want most of the day and no one has to work 9-5, people live the best life ever on the Sun. that's what it says on the headlines at least this isn't the same for everyone on the Sun such as Vulcan.

Chapter Three: The Downfall

Finally the day Vulcan had been waiting for, he was finally 1000 years old this was a big day for him because he was finally in the quadrupedal digits. This means he can finally make changes to the laws without passing them through the other people in the government.

When Vulcan woke up on his birthday his wife had breakfast cooking and his kids where making birthday cards for him as Vulcan was about to walk out of his room he but decides he needs to look nice so he hops in the shower and in the shower then brushes his teeth, and shaves. When he walks out his entire family is their and they all threw a huge surprise birthday breakfast for him and it was the best birthday ever.

After breakfast he decides to go into work for a while and when he gets there everyone brought something for his birthday and it had been the best day ever, this was until Vulcan looked at the economic numbers and saw they had dropped 15% after this Vulcan was not happy and after a while of debate between all of the people they decided a way to get it up was to let people from other planets on the Sun, but the only problem was that there was a law the forbid it, made by his father which could not be changed, until today.

Finally they started letting people from other planets onto the Sun which went really good for the first few years but then the Sun went crazy and everyone started turning on each other, no one respected anyones boundaries anymore and it was chaos, Vulcan had to find a way to stop this chaos so he sent everyone out which made everything worse.

All of the other planets were talking bad about the Sun and after he kicked them out they all went to a different planet in another universe, Oron and makes the planet go into chaos just as it did to the Sun, which made the leader mad at Vulcan and caused a big threat to everything and everyone on the Sun.

Chapter Four: The threat

The leader of planet Oron, the ice planet see's what all of the people the Sun kicked out are doing to his planet and decides it's time to go into battle with the Sun just as he did 700 years ago.

Craig then sends an army of 5,000 icemen onto the Sun and starts a battle between his planet and the Sun which causes the Sun to go into lockdown.

Vulcan then charges his army of 75,000 people towards planet Orons army and there was a huge battle between the planets with people dying every few seconds and no one was thinking about the consequences.

The war went on for about 3 days before the Sun destroyed Orons army only losing 10,000 people.

Vulcan knew though that this wouldn't be the last he'd be seeing of Craig he knows he'll be back and Vulcans gonna be ready when he does, so Vulcan makes all of the people Lockdown and keeps a schedule of when everyone can come out of their houses to ensure nothing happens to the people of the Sun.

Vulcan also gets up to 150,000 people from the Sun to join the army and spends billions to get another planet to help him which brings his numbers up to 475,000 soldiers.

Little did Vulcan know this wouldn't be anywhere near Orons army of 1,200,000 Soldiers.

And Craig has one thing to get inside Vulcans head that Vulcan doesn't know about, His parents.

Chapter Five: The War Has Just Begun

Vulcan gets everyone on the Sun to their homes and places 15,000 soldiers to watch the homes to make sure no Oron soldiers get the people. The Sun has gone into a complete lockdown. Everyone was scared and the Sun didn't know what was coming to them.

While Vulcan was preparing his planet for the war Craig was Marching his army towards the Sun on the milky-way putting 500,000 people on the front lines with the rest as backup. Vulcan wasn't only preparing his people he also had recruited multiple planets to help such as, Jupiter, Saturn, and The Dark Army.

As Craig got closer all of the Armies were lined up waiting on the Sun to embrace the attack. Vulcan had 1.1 million soldiers lined up to protect the Sun. While all of the Leaders were watching from a building in the distance Craig's army broke the gates down and started running towards the Sun's Forces.

Finally the war broke out and everyone from each of the armies found someone and attacked them. It was about 2 to 1 between the Sun at first and Vulcan had high hopes that he was going to win. This was until Craig marched 700,000 more soldiers towards the Sun.

Vulcan's smile went away really fast when he saw what was happening he then gets a call.

"Hello?" said Vulcan.

"Were under attack, even worse now" said the army general.

Vulcan then gets flashbacks, from the day his parents died.

Chapter Six: The Final Fight

[Paste chapter image/drawing here]

Vulcan broke down into tears in the middle of the battle field when he thought of his parents and he still never knew how they really died to this day. While Vulcan was crying the ice army slowly made their way towards Vulcan and the people all of the other leaders started making their way to the front lines to help the soldiers then Craig jumped to the top of the tower in hopes of seeing Vulcan.

When Craig saw Vulcan he knew this was the perfect time to finish the job he started so many years ago so he jumped at Vulcan and started attacking him, Vulcan tried to fight back but he couldn't Craig had pinned down. As Craig was standing over Vulcan holding him down with his head hanging off the side of the building.

Craig then Whispers to Vulcan, "It's know my time to finish you just as I did your parents".

Vulcan then screams at Craig, "YOU KILLED MY PARENTS".

As Vulcan screamed it echoed throughout the Sun and everyone heard it. Craig laughed at Vulcan as he cried "YOU KILLED MY PARENTS". Vulcan then jumps up and starts attacking Craig with everything he has while tears ran down his face. Craig then swept him off his feet and threw him off the side of the building and Vulcan barely holding on the side of the building walks over and just as he is about to stomp on his hands the rest of the leaders start kicking and throwing Craig around like a ball hurting him more every time.

As Vulcan gets up he pins Craig to the ground and yells "It's now my turn" Vulcan Then blows fire in Craigs face and finishes him.
