

CERTIFIED DREAMVALE

Azure Flow

by Leo Thao

Name: Akiriyama, Haruki

Age: 15

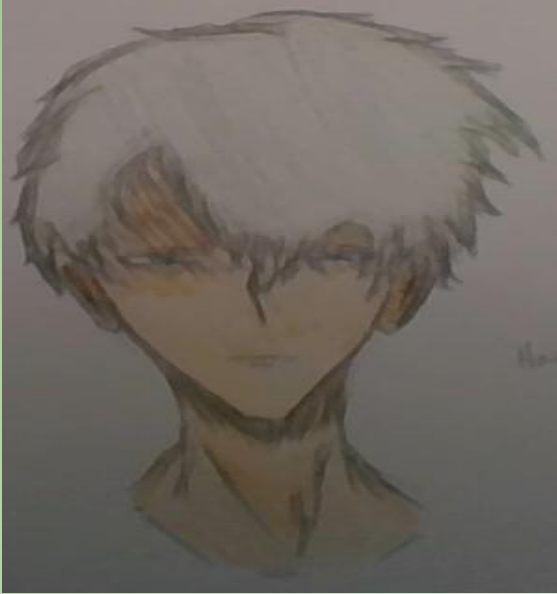

Species: Human

Gender: Male

Home Planet: Apostle

Personality Traits:
Mixed of kind/cold
Mysterious
Clever
Strong

Dream(s): Living a carefree life.

Fear(s): Never eating Roanu style curry ever again..

Abilities:

- Skill Creation (Rank: Unknown)

Quote: "No one will be in way of me and my Roanu style curry."

Backstory: The world Apostle is a mysterious one as an incident occurred that created monsters, in the time of need humans began awakening powers to subdue the monsters till this day monsters still exist and no one knows what caused the monsters to roam the city. A freshman enrolling at a prestigious and renowned school suddenly transported to mysterious labyrinth now awakening powers with endless potential

City/Country Description:
The city of Sekyo is one of the most biggest cities in the country of Jarea, it was one of the most famous tourist destinations but after the start of gate monsters tourists have significantly decreased as the city has high rates of monster incidents.

Planet Description: The world of Apostle is a thriving rocky planet with many precious resources such as Embreite which is an ore that doesn't exist anywhere else. The world is very industrialized as there are many cities, but since the planet is humongous there is a lot of wild land for the unique creatures that exist in this planet. Although people believe that this planet is their home, everyone has their doubts of it actually being it.

Political Climate / History: The world is chaotic after the fact that mysterious monsters lurk around magic gates that can transport them from their unknown habitats to Apostle. Some hunters with awakened strong magical abilities sometimes abuse their power for their own selfish desires which also endangers the whole world from not only the gate monsters. The humans endure the challenges these gates from different worlds throw at them and try to find the cause of the appearance of the gates to find a solution to the chaos to finally end it.

Q: What do you like to do in your free time?

A: The one thing I enjoy the most is lying on one of branches of the great Omai tree and reading all of my favorite mangas, one of them being One Piece since it has a lot of volumes.

Q: What is your favorite delicacy to enjoy, unique to your planet?

A: My favorite food that I eat at least once a week is Roanu style curry from a restaurant called Tonistu. Their curry has a rich and savory base along with sweet and tender pork that has been marinated in a secret sauce .

Q: What would you do if you suddenly came upon your planet's equivalent of one million Earth dollars?

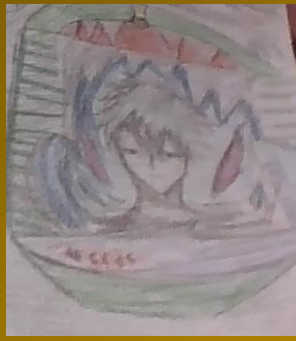

A: I would buy that much money worth of Roanu style curry.

Q: What's one time you used an ability of yours to get out of a sticky situation?

A: Using my special ability Skill Creation, I created a skill called Frost King's Legacy making me able to create ice and bend it to my will. I used this ability to create an ice sword to slash the army of knights in the Ominiyagi Labyrinth.

Chapter One: A Soaring New Beginning

Akiryama, Haruki, a now freshman, enrolls in the prestigious school of Kibana High. His goal is wanting to be a part of the Hunter's Association to help fight against the beasts roaming Apostle.

Chapter Two: The Ominiyagi Labyrinth

After falling asleep in his dorm, Haruki suddenly appears in a mysterious labyrinth with no clue of how he got there. He is now forced to find a way out of there.

Chapter Three: New Skills Acquired

Haruki facing an opponent way stronger than he is, luckily is able to create a few more skill to aid him in his battle.

Chapter Four: Undetermined Faith

Haruki is told about what he must do and hears a story about a particular hero giving him information and answers.

Chapter Five: The Resurrection of the Cult's Lord

A secret cult organization is in their base in the depths of a cave. They are sacrificing many people for the sole purpose of the resurrection of their lord.

Chapter Six: I'm So Done With This

Haruki after waking up from his nap, has newfound strong resolve to do what he must for the world.

Chapter One: A Soaring New Beginning

I open my eyes, feeling all the sweat streaming down the entirety of my body. I keep reflecting on the strange dreams I have had every night ever since the start of summer break. Just thinking about these dreams frightens me as I can't recall what was happening. It was like a big cloudy fog surrounded my head, growing thicker as I tried to grasp the recollection of my dreams. For some reason, it's like these dreams are calling out to me to beware of something unknown.

A Soaring New Beginning

The world already is in chaos, so these dreams don't feel too abnormal. In this world of Apostle, fierce and savage monsters roam around some areas of Seokyo. These beasts come from gate portals connecting their world to ours.

Do not fret because there is a group of people who take care of these monsters before they cause havoc. This group is called the Hunter's Association. Their job is to act according to the appearance of the gate portals and exterminate the monsters lurking before they can harm nearby citizens. The association also researches and explores the newly created landmass of Apostle as it increases its landmass, growing many extensions to the world every year. With these new land masses, researchers and explorers find rare and undiscovered species of creatures, herbs, ores, and ruins.

A Soaring New Beginning

I, Akiriyama Haruki, am planning to join the association but I need to first get examined on the Hunter's Test held on New Year which is only 1 month away. Man this is such a hassle, I just want to take the test right now so I can become a hunter and fight all of these strong beasts.

But there is nothing I can do about it, so I'll just focus on school now as I'm attending my first year of high school. School starts today at 8 a.m. and ends at 5 p.m. I'm going to quickly take the shortcut by Theriof Forest which should take only about a 30-minute jog, leaving me with 15 minutes to spare before, the morning bell. I need to go into the forest anyway because I lost my school bag. I now sprint out of my house into the forest after getting myself ready and dressed.

As I enter the inner perimeter of the forest I can see a gigantic tree, the Ancient Omai Tree. This tree is like a mega version of a sakura tree but with a twist on it. The leaves on the tree change color as they fall from different heights. Touching the blossoms gives you an enlightening warm feeling.

Chapter One: A Soaring New Beginning

The tree is one of a kind as there are only 5 of them including the one in Theriof forest. Each of these 5 Ancient Omai has unique features that set them apart from the other Ancient Omais, the Theriof Forest Omai's special trait is that at night it glows up like the Northern lights.

This tree is a spot where I like to read manga. I like to climb and sit on the branches and then read manga. As I go closer, I can barely see a leather strap hanging across the lower tree branches. I climb up while trying to fastly climb while keeping my composure. As I step on the lowest branch, my foot gets stuck causing me to trip and fall 1,000 meters. I'm going to die, aren't I? To my surprise, I only suffered a few major injuries, but nothing too severe. I then fall asleep for who knows how long.

As I wake up I mumble to myself, "How did I survive that fall? No Haruki, more importantly, I need to get to school right now!" Looking out at my smartphone, I realized that it was 1:00 p.m. already!!! "Oh shoot, I already missed almost half of my classes," I yelled.

A Soaring New Beginning

By the time I made it to school, the school day had ended, that was partially my fault as I kept getting sidetracked on the way there. Entering the school premises, I head off to the prime minister's office and he gives me a guide to go around the school. During the guide, the person who was supposed to guide me around the school kept yapping about some school beauty here called Monohoki, Shira. I honestly couldn't care about girls right now, I just want to become a hunter right now. I already missed some of my favorite classes today. I wish this guy would show me into my dorm now. We're getting nowhere at this point.

Looking around the school was a nice experience, everything about this school was prestigious and beautiful, this was kinda expected at a prestigious school. I still wonder how I got into Kibana High, as famous as it is, a commoner like me most likely shouldn't be able to attend a school like this. I was told by a scout that they wanted me to attend here because they saw great potential in me. I don't know what they saw in me but an opportunity like this shouldn't be missed.

Chapter One:

A Soaring New Beginning

By the time I make it to my dorm, it's already 10:00 p.m. That guy pretty much the whole time was talking to all the girls that we would pass by. Next time this happens I'm going to kill him. The prime minister really needs help with how he selects student guides. Enough with this, I'm going to go to the sauna. Staying in the sauna felt really relaxing and made me so drowsy. After this, I go take a cold shower and then later, I organize my things and put them away. Man I had a long day, I'm so tired I want to sleep. Laying on my bed I close my eyes and fall asleep.

Chapter Two: The Ominiyagi Labyrinth

What's up with this place, it seems like I've been teleported to an underground labyrinth. How did I even get here?

"Hello," I called out which echoed across the ruined labyrinth. In front of me, there is a gate which maybe means that there is treasure guarded by a guardian like in mythology. Not to my surprise, I was right, as soon as I opened the door I saw a gigantic knight in jade armor. The knight looked like he was guarding a large worn-out sword stuck inside the middle of a throne behind the knight. Even though it looked worn out, the sword was overflowing with mysterious energy telling those who dared to wield it, to try their best shot to take it for themselves.

Chapter Two: The Ominiyagi Labyrinth

I'm not trying to die so I'm going to walk out of this scary and pressuring arena. Unluckily for me, as I try to step out of the arena, a force field blocks me from getting out. I now sigh with the thought that I'm totally going to die. If I can't get out of here then I'm going to find a way out, even if I most likely have to fight that knight. I'll first get to the sword in the throne to at least have a weapon to fend off against the knight.

As I first step closer to the knight, it doesn't do anything so I go closer. Right before I grab the sword, the knight suddenly comes to life and rushes towards me. Man, I don't want to die or fight that thing. I quickly grab the sword and it shrinks perfectly to my ideal size and transforms, getting rid of the rust it has. The blade of the sword is a black with white outline, the rest being black. The sword is light and seems to be confidently sharp and durable. This would be my ideal sword in general, I pretty much got this for free and I now have to fight this warrior.

Chapter Two: The Ominiyagi Labyrinth

The knight grabs the greatsword behind its back. Then the beast starts to strike with sword strokes, one almost cutting my head in half. Using my instincts, I roll on the ground evading the attack. The knight then roars out, magically creating backup knights that were thankfully smaller than the big knight.

A screen similar to a game status window in those fantasy games pops up in front of my face saying, "Hero of the ____.", arise and take your role as the guardian of Apostle, a world soon to be wiped out from existence," a soft and mysterious female voice saying of all of this nonsense. How come I couldn't hear what word the voice said after the so-called "Hero of the ____." It doesn't matter right now, I need to focus on the fight right now.

As I keep trying to dodge all of these knight attacks I randomly call out of nowhere, "System Call: Skill Creation." What the heck did I just say? A status window pops up summarizing what this Skill Creation is. It, in theory, can create any ability I so desire. Why do I have such a broken ability??? I then quickly call out, "Skill Creation: Frost King's Legacy."

The Ominiyagi Labyrinth

This skill pretty much allows me to create ice of nothing and use it to my will, pretty much ice magic. Using this skill, I summon hail, which is not one of the best things I could have done at the moment because I don't have frost resistance but luckily, I can just make it so I have so with Frost King's Legacy.

Using the frost skill, I create another sword and with this, it's time to begin the slaughter. Thanks to this frost skill I can just throw my ice sword at the knights and the sword will come back to me. Using the powerful sword I picked up from the throne I can easily slash what's in front of me, even the big knight which I defeated easily. Then suddenly a lich appears and resurrects the knights I killed.

Chapter Two: The Ominiyagi Labyrinth

"You, what are you? Why have you come here? This place is supposed to be locked off from your kind, so how are you here, wait you're the person from the prophecy, the savior of your kind," the lich said in a curious mood. "I guess this is my lucky day since you have come to this place, I'll kill you before you cause trouble to my lord," the lich said with a grim smile on his face. "Give your body up for the lord of the dead human, I promise nothing bad will happen to you or anyone," the lich said with a cold and deathly stare.

"Sorry but I don't plan on dying for anyone's sake, if anything you're the one who's dying," I replied with a big grin. "Foolish human and your impudence, I gave you a chance, but now you'll meet death," The lich yelled out across the arena. A lich is a Grade S monster, which is high hopes for me who isn't even a hunter yet to slay. But I have this overpowered ability, so I have to kill this thing before it absorbs my ability and causes havoc across humanity. The thing is, how do I beat this hell of a monster?

Chapter Two: The Ominiyagi Labyrinth

First of all, he's fast and has Master Rank Magic Mastery which is incredible for any being to have; there are only a few known hunters that have this title. Second of all, he has very good physical capabilities making it very durable to physical hits and send strong hits itself right back at me. Man if only I could create skills that would make me fast and give me more strength. The lich has higher magic defense than physical defense so direct sword attacks should be the way to go. Another that helps is that this thing can only use one spell at a time so I should strike when it goes on the offensive.

"Retribution of the dead," the lich calls out, summoning a ray of destruction at me. I barely dodged the blast and am now really tired from fighting the knights before the lich was summoned. Right now, I'm at half of my mana capacity, I'm in big trouble once I run out of it.

"System Update, due to your soon most likely inescapable death, you are permitted to create 2 temporary skills to hopefully prevent your death," the female voice notifies me.

Chapter Three: New Skills Acquired

"Yes, let's go, you're screwed now, you bony skeleton," I yelled out.

"You dare mock me mortal, I'll make quick work of you because of your cockiness," the lich howled.

Before the lich comes at me I shout "Skill Creation, Elvin's Magic Mastery, and Atlas's Might."

"Oh no you don't, stop it mortal," the lich bellows. Elvin's Magic Mastery gives me some knowledge types of magic and +500 mana bringing up to 1000 mana total. Atlas's Might gives me +250 strength added to my 25 giving me 275 strength.

Chapter Three: New Skills Acquired

"Heed my servants and kill the mortal," the lich chants, summoning an undead army of skeletons oozing with horrific screams to those it murdered before. "What are you going to do against my undead army, I will tell you, NOTHING because you will die here and now. Tell me human what is the one you strive for? If you tell me I might perhaps grant your wish, " the lich said mockingly. I'm not going to let this monster provoke me. I have new skills now and I will put them to use. I conjure up a massive firestorm in front of the stadium as the undead, including the lich, have a high weakness in fire-type magic. Now this takes care of half of the army, so I also create hail, mixing the fire, creating a massive smokescreen, hiding my presence. This should prevent the lich from sensing me and throwing off powerful magic.

Chapter Three: New Skills Acquired

"You reckless mortal, I have sensory magic and now you can't even see me." This is good now, the lich is cocky enough to try to attack me head-on, making this a lot easier because I have enough stat points in strength to finish this thing in a couple of hits if I aim at its weak points. I grab the nearby skeletons and chuck them at the lich to keep him busy while I step closer to him. I created an ice dagger, used all my strength in my legs, and took a big leap to where the lich was. There, the gemstone on his chest is his weak spot. Along with my sword and dagger, I attack him barraging him with sword slashes.. I'm wearing him down, but I'm also getting more fatigued. At this rate, I'm going to pass out from exhaustion, I need to end this quickly.

Wait, I got an idea, "Flame Manipulation: Hephaestus's Amor." Now I have one that will negate some damage I take while inflicting the lich fire each time he attacks me.

Chapter Three: New Skills Acquired

"Requesting the Grim Reaper's Scythe." The lich calls out with his hand in the air. Suddenly a scythe appears with extraordinary power that screams and intimidates me. Wow, this is pretty scary, if I get hit by this a couple of times, I'm dead for sure. The lich sprints towards me and we both engage in dual. We both exchange blows dealing a lot of damage to each other. He's too fast with his attacks, this dang thing monster is impressive even though I hate to admit it.

"Mortal, I'm surprised you lasted this long, I will give you an offer. I will let you be my vice commander and offer you great power with the great potential you hold. It'll be a waste letting you die hero of the prophecy.

"Like hell, I'd join you, I'm GOING TO KILL YOU LICH, YOU HEAR ME!!!" I yell out. This is it I managed to weaken enough to the point where one final hit will end him.

Chapter Three: New Skills Acquired

"LET'S END THIS!!!" We both shout out across the arena.

"Combo Finisher: White Flame Destruction," I say combining flame and ice magic to the sword.

"Grim Reaper's Hidden Art: Ghoul Extinction," The lich chants giving a tremendous amount of undead energy to his scythe. We both leap towards each other with swift speed faster than light speed. We both manage to inflict killing blows to each other or so I thought. The lich is dead on the ground with green undead energy oozing out of his body. While I have the scythe stuck in my guts where the lich stabbed me. The scythe is draining my HP that I'm able to see thanks to the stat window. I never thought I would die this way honestly. The stadium starts crumbling and breaking apart. Yep, I'm for sure going to die I think in my head giving off a slight grin.

Chapter Three: New Skills Acquired

"You did good hero, you deserve some rest," said the same voice that my stat window has. Hmmmm, this voice feels more genuine.

"That's right, this is my real vessel talking to you, the one your stat window has is one of my numerous failed clones. I'm the goddess of light Listreya. I'm the one who gave your fate and your power as long as the powers of all of your unique and mysterious kind. Your power is unique, normally when I give your kind power I can choose what they get, but you, as soon as I tried to give power somehow were able to overwrite it with the one you currently possess. Anyway, you need to be prepared in a few days because you're going to fight in the upcoming battle against the demon army. You're forced to do it no matter what or else all the things you care about will succumb. Don't fail me, my champion."

Chapter Four: Undetermined Fate

"I'm not your tool, after this, I'm going to eat some Roanu-style curry," I angrily told her.

"You mortals and all of your weird desires, don't you ever desire strength or recognition," Listreya replies with a sigh. "You know hero, you're pretty impressive as you're wielding that blade, do you know of significance?" Listreya says with great curiosity.

"What are you talking about this sword, although I guess its design is cool," I said confused.

"The sword you're holding in your right hand is called Vigorest. It was the sword the Almighty once held. It was said that after he passed on, the sword's presence ceased to exist, to think you now hold the same sword. I can say this hero, Vigorest, is not at its full potential so you'll need to unlock as soon as possible to help aid in the upcoming battle." Listreya explains to me.

Chapter Four: Undetermined Fate

"This is all too sudden for me to comprehend like you're not telling me who we are fighting exactly and why we are fighting. Why me!! Why not someone more capable than me!!! I don't want to fight an unknown battle for an unknown reason that might get me killed. How do I even know that you are not my enemy." I exclaim expressing caution.

"I wish I could tell you more but I'm afraid I can't tell you anymore as I'm running out of time. See you, but next time most likely on the battlefield hero, I wish you the best of luck," Listreya says as her voice disappears. Great, now I'm forced to fight and become a puppet. How did it turn this way?

Chapter Four: Undetermined Fate

Anyway, I still need to figure out a way to get out of this creepy underground place. I'm surprised this place held up as me and Listreya were talking. Can I use EM Mastery (Elvin's Magic Mastery) to create a portal? I guess yes since I see his documents in his book created by the sat window. Man, I have an overpowered ability that created 1 overpowered ability. This is like I cheated the system, I can't even complain about this since this helps me a lot with teleporting to places. To use this portal skill I need to think about the location of where I want to be and put mana into that thought. Suddenly, I got teleported to my dorm which still looked the same as when I left it. Well, this spell works a bit better than I originally thought. I need to get some rest, I'm really tired.

Before I know it, I fall into my bed and become unconscious. I wake up in an empty void.

"Hello, the new hero, you may not know about your role, but things are sometimes better when at the right time. Right as you are right now, you're not ready," the void calls out to me, resembling the deep voice of a man.

Chapter Four: Undetermined Fate

"Whoever the hell you are, stop annoying me. I already have plenty of things on my mind and I would appreciate it if you could leave me alone," I angrily expressed to the void.

"Child, soon you'll be informed but right now, you must hone your skills as hard work never fails you.

"How could you know, it's not like you're going through the things I'm going through," I yell at the void.

"Of course I do young sapling. Many centuries ago in the world I came from, I had to choose between saving my lover or the entire realm of Astolia, the realm of the Angelic. I knew if I saved my lover, I was a selfish and evil person, but I couldn't let her die. If I saved the city, she would have certainly died. I ended up saving the whole realm instead, killing the love of my life. The ongoing continuous conflict between the Angelic and the Demonic took a long time to settle.

Chapter Four: Undetermined Fate

"After this era, I became a rogue killing many of my brethren that left my lover to fend for herself during the finale. I became corrupt and became one with ancient evil sorcery all to resurrect the one I loved. I never achieved it and was sealed in this void to meet you and guide you on the right path, one where you'll bring hope to all across _____. I guess you can't say this word to you or else the _____ will come after you. My apologies, I haven't greeted myself, I am Yusha the first hero and also the Destroyer of the Sacrious Order, the highest order of the angels. It is your choice to pick the sides before it's too late." Yusha explained.

"What are even the two sides anyway? You and Listreya keep telling me to pick sides, but you guys don't even tell me any of the sides I get to pick," I yelled at Yusha.

Chapter Four: Undetermined Fate

"I'm sorry hero but we don't know what you'll choose as the prophecy only tells certain things, in the end, you'll have to find a side and choose your fate," Yusha said calmly. Just as Yusha said this, two mysterious people in black and red robes grabbed onto my arms and ran off to a portal leaking with a horrible stench and an unpleasant feeling.

"Don't worry about me Yusha. After all, I'm the new hero, one surely to surpass your legacy," I said, reassuring him. After these words, the people in robes drag me into the portal.

"Honestly, he reminds me so much of you Kazetsuki, I'm sorry for telling him your story and who you actually are, because after all you were the one who faced these events, not me," Yusha said to a white glowy figure called Kazestuki.

"Don't worry old friend, I am no longer present in this world so it doesn't really matter. I trust you with guiding my successor, old friend," Kazestuki says while disappearing into the void, leaving Yusha in the empty void all alone.

The Resurrection of the Cult's Lord

"Sacrifice this mortal to our lord and savior, Demon King Asterof," an army of red and black-robed people chanted as I entered the other side of the portal.

The Resurrection of the Cult's Lord

"I don't know about you guys but, I don't plan on being a sacrifice," I said with a smile. After I said this I could feel the angry mob's pressure. "Ok you weirdos let's dance," I said after grabbing the two robed people who were immobilizing my arms and throwing them backward smashing their bodies against the nearby stony wall. Man, this place is really creepy, there is dried-out crimson blood on these cave walls. This cave is so dimly lit with white-blue flames lighting up the lanterns connected to the ceiling. The angry mob now starts rushing towards me chanting flame and lightning magic. "It seems like you guys are underestimating me, now perish. Frost King's Legacy: Wrath of the Sword Blizzard," I call out summoning a vast amount of ice daggers in the air raining down my opponents. "Phew, you guys aren't as tough as I thought you were, I beat you guys before you guys even landed an attack on me," I sighed with disappointment. At least my skills gained a bit of exp, I think if I killed them, I would've gained more exp, but I'm not a psycho and I just knocked them unconscious so they'll be fine. Anyways, where is their leader, they surely have one, right???

The Resurrection of the Cult's Lord

"Oh, our great sacrifice has beaten up his captors, I guess I have to finish these bozo's job as their leader, honestly I should have just used all of them as a sacrifice you know," a man in a white robe with deep blood stripes says. "Actually, that's what I'll do, Blood Magic: Blood Ring Execution," the man crazily says with big laughter. He summons a magic circle made of blood and whoever is in its vicinity, is being drained of its blood eventually killing them. Now all I see is a bunch of dead skeletons. "Blood Magic: Massacred Revival, now arise my lord, Demon King Asterof," the crazy man chants, summoning a strange demon overflowing with tremendous and powerful mana. "Forgive me for taking 7 years to resurrect my lord," the man in the white robe says pleading with mercy.

The Resurrection of the Cult's Lord

"Ahh, I'm back in the flesh, this is a nice feeling. I should test if I am still at my prime, Asterof says as he stretches his body. Not even for a second, Asterof instantly fires off a dense ball of magic at me and the white-robed man. This knocks me to the ceiling and kills the white-robed man. How is this guy even this strong, he is way too fast and packs strong punches. If not for my newly acquired strength stats, I would have died, even right this leaves me in critical condition as I'm internally bleeding. I kinda feel bad for the white-robed man but not really as he killed his cult members.

The Resurrection of the Cult's Lord

"User level has gained a System Upgrade, you can now use abilities and other functions of the system without having to speak out loud to use them," the system notifies me. Let's test this out, now Fire and Ice Magic: Springvale Unlocked and Skill Creation: Thor's Will. I now can wield water and lightning magic unlocked which makes things much easier. Water and Lightning Magic: Serpent's Prison. This spell allows me to create a cubed prison made out of water trapping whoever I want in its area. This also has sea serpents made out of lightning constantly attacking the opponent. This is probably the most defensive and offensive I could think about. Using this spell, I trap Asterof while still attacking him.

The Resurrection of the Cult's Lord

"You think this can stop me mortal, don't you dare mock me, I'm now ready to use my full extension of my abilities," Asterof bellowed. "Shadow Magic: Schemy Recovery," Asterof says in a distorted voice. After using this spell, he recovered all the damage he took and along with that, he broke Serpent's Prison. It seemed after this, all of his physical capabilities significantly increased and because of that, he quickly charged at me, landing numerous combos and ending with a sidekick crushing me against the wall. Man, how many times am I going to get slammed on a wall? Elemental Combination Magic: Ancient Refinement. This increases all of my stats tenfold in exchange for deadly decreasing my mana, so I can only hold out this skill for around 5 minutes if I'm lucky.

The Resurrection of the Cult's Lord

I quickly rapidly sprint towards Asterof exchanging fists mid-air. I manage to get a good amount of hits in but he is too durable. I'm obviously going nowhere at this point. I need to land more powerful attacks but that's just going to keep lowering my mana. No!!! I don't care anymore, I have no choice but to finish this fight, so here goes nothing. Elemental Combination Magic: Vigorest Enhancement. I hate using swords in a fistfight, especially this sword because it will always be heavy unless you've mastered it. Whatever, I can't let my pride be the end of my life, for at least right now at age 15. I'm going to end this with one final blow, Vigorest 1st Hidden Art: Berserk Killing Spree!!!!

"I'm going to kill you Asterof!!!" I loudly yell out echoing across the cave.

The Resurrection of the Cult's Lord

I quickly rapidly sprint towards Asterof exchanging fists mid-air. I manage to get a good amount of hits in but he is too durable. I'm obviously going nowhere at this point. I need to land more powerful attacks but that's just going to keep lowering my mana. No!!! I don't care anymore, I have no choice but to finish this fight, so here goes nothing. Elemental Combination Magic: Vigorest Enhancement. I hate using swords in a fistfight, especially this sword because it will always be heavy unless you've mastered it. Whatever, I can't let my pride be the end of my life, for at least right now at age 15. I'm going to end this with one final blow, Vigorest 1st Hidden Art: Berserk Killing Spree!!!!

"I'm going to kill you Asterof!!!" I loudly yell out echoing across the cave.

The Resurrection of the Cult's Lord

"I was going to say the exact thing to you human!!!" Asterof expresses more loudly and sinisterly. We were both able to land fierce blows on each other. Dang it, I couldn't end him off but he should be injured to the point that he dies if he doesn't tend to his wounds, although I'm in the same boat. I don't have any more mana so I can't escape and he probably still has a little to either finish me off or retreat. "I hate to do this but, I admit that you're strong, probably more than I am, so I'm going to retreat for now. Until we meet again human, next I won't lose, " Asterof scoffs as he enters a portal and escapes. All that effort just for him to retreat, at least I pushed past my limits unlocking new abilities. Next time on the battlefield, I'll finish him. After that fight I'm so tired, I'm going to go take a nap to regain a bit of mana to teleport back to my dorm.

Chapter 6 (Final): I'm So Done With This

Waking up from my nap, I'm still so tired from the fatigue effects after those two battles. I don't want to fight anything anymore for right now at least. I almost died in two big fights in a row. I can't recklessly keep fighting like a madman.

I'm right now laughing at myself. At first I wanted to fight beasts and monsters like they were no big deal but, after fighting those two, I guess I'm a bit afraid of the monsters I will fight in the future if they are as strong as the lich and Asterof. That's why I must be way stronger than I am now in the future, so I can easily handle anything that stands in my way. After all, I am the hero that is supposed to protect this world now, so I have a duty that I must fulfill for the time being.