Chapter One: The backstory

Ello Mate my name is Menopoly, but I go by Men. When I was born after, an hour I wanted the stork to come back and pick me up.

When I was three years old I was already doing all the chores. From that point things only got worse.

One day when I was four my mom got hit by a car on the way to her night job so from then on it was just me and my dad. My dad didn't even seem sad, he was only mad because now instead of drinking Duff beer, he had to find a job quick so he could keep the lights on.

He ended up finding a job perfect for him. The Duff beer factory. If you want to guess how that went you're probably wrong. With no supervision and unlimited beer, he did what any alcoholic would do, he drank, and drank, and drank. He drank himself right out of life. I was only 8 years old, and basically Dr. depression.

I am 14 years old living with my new family. I was planning a run away at 11 PM tonight.

The plan was to go through the window in my room, but first take some food money and clothes in a bag, From there I go to the portals and enter where I should end up in Massachusetts. After I arrive I will get plane to New York City and get an apartment, see you later.

So um It has been 3 months and I have an apartment in Massachusetts... Planes are more expensive than I thought...

Chapter Two: The Journey

Hello, as of now I am working for the Boston celtics as a janitor. I'm 21 and decided to reward myself for all I have done for myself. I have lots of money to spend, but on what. I have decided to go to the aquarium and swim with the otters. Oh I love those things...

So apparently you're not allowed to go in the tanks at a aquarium or steal from a cop or hurt a cop. On the plus side I was invited to a Courtroom? Whatever that is.

When I arrived I was in this musty room, Kinda looked like a church. I don't understand why they call it a courtroom, like just call it a church.(Men smirks). I hated my whole 2 mins in that place. Not one person wanted to be my friend so I chose to leave cause it honestly just sucked. I went home and turned on the news. It said I was wanted. So I grabbed all my cool stuff and headed out on the first available plane.

I was expecting cops outside the plane landing zone in New York City but to my surprise no one was waiting there. The weirdest part is that I didn't even use my fake I.D.

Chapter Two: The Journey

Also have I talked about my wealth cause I am kinda broke. I only have 687K dollars. I used the money to get a apartment, furniture, and food. I made the decision to put the rest in a safe space, but keep some to spend on my first gun. It was nothing special, but it was still nice, and one of my favorite pistols.

The Colt Python is a revolver, and This puppy had everything I needed with the ability to shoot up to 6 shots per load and a powerful hit I could be unstoppable, But there is one problem. I can only use concussion bullets. They put them to sleep and forget everything. This way I can't get sued. After I got back to my new apartment I settled down and turned the TV on, and fell asleep to Sports Center.

Chapter Three: The upgrade

Hello and welcome back. Just to update you on everything. I am now a big villain and I want to set all prisoners free. To do that I need some more money, because I am the biggest criminal in the universe. I now have a mansion and made some friends. Their names are Hubert and Matt. Hubert is an old toy car that I found walking in a back alley. Matt on the other hand is from the Wii. We became great friends and offered him to live with me and Hubert back in New York City.

When I was staying in the Wii I got my favorite weapon to this day. A bat, but not just any bat a Wii bat. These things don't break and pause time for a little bit on every hit. I also bought a mansion with a huge indoor and outdoor pool, Football field, and a race track to race my friends. I got this new car to, oh it is awesome. All silver like the monopoly car but its a convertible. I got it visiting some of my old friends from my hometown in greasy grove in fortnite monopoly.

Chapter Three: The upgrade ¹

Tonight I am robbing a bank for 60 million dollars. I will be using the money to buy a yacht, but there's a catch. It's going to have wheels. It will also have a helicopter on the top. The sides will have riot shields it will be as strong as a cyber truck, and just for fun I am adding turrets that have lock on target to hit sand castles and other sand creations. I also will add one last thing. Spikes, across the entire bottom of the yacht that can be retracted. Tomorrow with my new tools and friends I will free all criminals and build my army. I need one more prison freed but it will be the most difficult because it is a max security prison.

Chapter Four: Free-Bee Pt.1

Hi it's finally time to free Pime prison and complete my life happily. I am set to arrive in 15 minutes so I will be vibing to some music until I arrive.

I am here... finally, I charge in and zoom past the check in booth. I look back to see if they will try to stop me. I see A lady at the desk and her hand moving to a red button. without hesitation I grab my gun and knock her out cold. Sadly she fell on the button and 3 doors close in front of me.

The first door is a easy one. You have to kill 6 robots I grab the revolver and the real bullets. I load 6 bullets ant next thing you know... BAM BAM BAM BAM BAM BAM. CLING, CRUNK, WOOSH. All the guards here that but were locked in the break room so I'm good.

The next door makes you solve a puzzle. Lucky me Matt is in Hubert and is amazing at puzzles. I got him sat down and played Block Blast. I almost beat my highscore when the door opens.

Matt goes back to Huebert and I read the next and last challenge. It reads, "You must get to the button alive to open the next door." I see the booby traps and doge every one with ease. I press the button and me thinking that was to easy was right.

Chapter Four: Free-Bee Pt.1

A raging Bull painted red, runs out right at me. I try to run but step in a bear trap. Half my leg is gone and I can't walk. I continue to crawl but, the red bull steps on a trap and falls threw a big hole. I do what I can and crawl to Matt and Hubert.

Chapter Five: Free-Bee Pt.2

I fight threw the pain use matt's bat as a leg and run back. The doors tayed open, and the lady at the front desk isn't up yet.

I go behind the desk for some tape and paper to better attach the bat. The paper is instantly red, but I go to the prison cells. Somehow the guards are not out yet so I take my time. I got to the switch that turns the lasers on and off and free them. The fugitives all run out. Some give me hugs. Some gave me handshakes and then they left to live free. After this the worst thing happens, The guards escape.

I go on a walkie talkie and tell Matt to grab the super yacht and charge in. I see about 30 guards with riot shields and mini guns. I am out of amo in my revolver and have to fight with my bat.

I charge from the side furthest from the exit. I hit one and I couldn't tell if he was dead or not. I was going for the next when a big bomb flies in. Matt came in clutch and killed them all with one bomb.

But I got hit by the Bomb to. He comes to check on me and sees me breathing. I stand up and he hugs me. I hear the cops so I turn to the exit and run to huebert. I hop into Hubert and we are off. Matt lets the cops pass and then runs out.

Chapter Five: Free-Bee Pt.2

He set the yacht to follow the cops and went to the right turret. He shot for the tires and used up all the ammo I had for it to shoot out the tires of to cop cars. Matt ran out of fuel and had to pull it over and walk home. I on the other hand am riding in a car who is jumping to dodge the bullets, but hey it's working.

I arrived home where I saw Matt, and pressed a secret button know one knows about. The bombardino crocodilo button. It makes the house turn into a bombardino crocodilo but it doesn't work very well. When I take off The wings break and me and my friends die.

Chapter Six: Heaven or He

"Why am I sweating. I thought installed AC." I yells angrily.

"Your in Hell idiot." Says the devil in a sarcastic tone.

"Well send me back you know what I said". For context while waiting to arrive at the prison I said Hell best preparar if I die or I will be the new Devil.

"Yes I heard you" ,The devil said calmly, " So I Have a offer. You can choose who will rise to heaven, you or your parents. Men looks to his left to see his parents. With no hesitation I flip them off and say I will be going to heaven. I haven't seen them for almost 30 years and I looked at them for a second and didn't let them say a word.

"Start walkin Men" orders the devil. So I walk,and saw what looked like 300 stairs. So I went back after the third stair and took the elevator. When I got to God in heaven he showed me to my room with Matt and Huebert and They let me choose the weather for a day once a month... It's always a tornado, per city.
