Home Planet: Pluto

Pluto is a very small planet with only a few thousand inhabitants. The inhabitants have evolved to not breath but absorb the very little amounts of oxygen in the dwindling atmosphere. There is not tech to make oxygen so most of the first settlers didnt make it.

Hometown: Colony #1

Colony #1 is as its name implies it was the first colony on the planet pluto. Colony #1 was originally the biggest city on pluto but after the war only 327 people live there.

Political Climate / History: The history of the planet is very brief due to only being settled only 400 years ago. Only 50 years after being settled a massive war broke out between colony #1, #2, and #3. Even though the war took place 350 years ago the tensions are still very strong. After the war 4 new colonies arose with the most powerful being colony #4.

An Interview by Kaboo

What would you do if you suddenly came upon your planet's equivalent of one million Earth dollars?

A: Well I would probably buy lots of steroids and get some nuclear fuel for my motorcycle. Or I'll save the money to move to a better colony.

What's one time you used an ability of yours to get out of a sticky situation?

A: One time I was stuck under an asteroid that was falling towards a planet and I used my strength and flight to get out. Another time I used my instant healing after a building fell on me.

Q:What do you like to do in your free time?

A: I usually go to the gym to work out or I'll drive around the solar system. Sometimes I'll sell some of the valuables from mining in the market. I also like to fight Gorom Morogs butt in fights.

Chapter One: Before the Accident

It was just a normal morning getting ready for work.

Chapter Two: The Accident

It was an uneventful day mining until out of the corner of my eye I spotted a weird rainbow colored lake so I went to check it out but that ended up being a terrible decision.

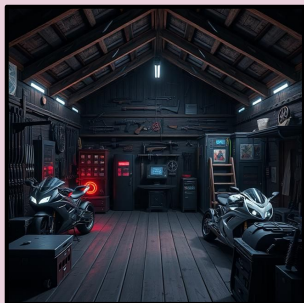

Chapter Three: Back on earth

I woke up on earth with a weird feeling in my arms and legs and when I looked down they looked different.

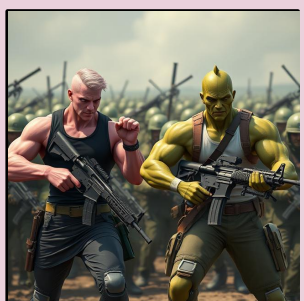

Chapter Four: Capture

I got captured by a group of people and made plans to escape with a martian

Chapter Five: On the run

Me and the martian are on the run from lots of people and then we find an old building with all the things we could need.

Chapter Six: Almost there

After finding the building the people found us and we fought for many hours but we finally succeeded. Then we assembled the ship and gathered our supplies and left to find answers.

Chapter One: Before the Accident

It was just a normal day or so I thought when I woke up on that soon to be dreadful monday morning. After I took my shower and ate breakfast and hopped into the work transport.

Before I get into any more detail I would like to introduce myself, my name is Sam Jackson and before moving back to Pluto, I lived on a now dead planet called Earth. My family was one of only 2000 to move to pluto and stay in the Earth system. Only 40 years after moving to Pluto there was a big war between the humans and the the Plutonians but thats in the past.

Now a little more about me, I work as a miner on the outer asteroid belt of Saturn mining precious metals and crystals. I don't like mining very much but its good pay and I need the money. Sometimes if I find a good mining spot my boss will let me keep some of the crystals which I sell for a good price but most days I don't find much of anything until that dreadful monday.

Chapter Two: The Accident

On the ride to the asteroid belt it was normal a few people were talking on the phone or talking to each other but most people were just minding their own business. Today my assigned asteroid was at the last stop so it felt like I was on the transport for forever.

By the time I got to the asteroid it was starting to get dark so I started mining right away. After a few days of mining around the asteroid looking for anything of value I had only found a few things, so I decided to explore for a few more hours before the transport comes back.

I was packing up my tent when out of the corner of my eye I spotted something shimmering so I decided to check it out.

Once I finally got there I realised what I was. It was a lake of a mysterious rainbow liquid so I took a sample of it in a glass bottle.

When I was done exploring the lake I saw what I thought was the transport coming but it seemed very fast. As it got closer I saw that it wasn't my transport and it was a very small asteroid that was about to crash into me. As I tried to move out of the way I realised it was too late and then it all went black.

Chapter Three: Back on earth

I open my eyes in a haze trying to recall what happened. All I remember is seeing an asteroid and then it all went dark. A moment later I realised that there was a hole in my suit but somehow I was still breathing.

I was walking around for a little while and then I realised I wasn't on pluto anymore. For a moment I thought I recognised where I was but it couldn't be.

I think I'm back on Earth.

Then my legs started to feel heavy. I could barely walk but I knew I needed to find a city or even some people so I kept walking.

All of a sudden my arms got a very weird feeling and when I looked down at them they were turning pink. In a panic I checked the rest of my body and it was all pink! After a moment I realised that my legs were no longer heavy and my arms weren't tingling anymore so that was good.

Chapter Three: Back on earth

After walking a few more miles I got very thirsty so I checked my bag but I had no water. Then I remembered something: I had that liquid from the asteroid! I looked in the side pocket and there it was. A large bottle of a liquid that was thicker than water and had a pinkish rainbow tint to it. So I took a sip and it was delicious. It was sweet and my thirst completely went away.

I was walking for a few more hours and there it was. People. I was so relieved so I ran towards them.

Chapter Four: Capture

As I get closer to the truck I notice that the people in werent so friendly. They had this look in their eyes that triggered a fear in me I didn't know I had and then I saw it a dart in my arm. Then I started to slow and everything slowly faded.

I woke in a cold damp concrete room and I was chained up. Then I heard someone at first I thought it was one of my captures but then I saw him. A Martian.

I thought they were extinct I thought to myself.

He spoke again saying "I know what your thinking but there is still a small amount of us left". I then asked him how he had gotten there and his story was the same as mine. He was mining on an asteroid and then I saw a pool of a mysterious liquid and then an asteroid hit me and I ended up back on Earth.

After talking for a little longer we both agreed that we needed to get out of here. So we made a plan

The plan was to wait for the people to come back in the room while we pretend to sleep. Then we grab their keys and try to get out.

Chapter Four: Capture

Just as we finished making the plan we heard them coming so we got down and pretended to sleep and just as they were leaving the Martian grabbed his keys without them noticing.

After waiting 5 minutes we unlocked the door and tried to find our way out. Then I saw a room with my stuff and we went over. When we got in I grabbed my bag and took a drink of the liquid and then this feeling came over me. An immense strength and anger!

Then we heard them the guards were behind use but this feeling I had it wouldnt let me surrender so I whipped around and knocked them all out with a strength I had never had before.

"We better get out of here my new friend said" I agree I said.

After wandering around trying to find an exit and after running into a few more guards we found the exit and left.

Chapter Five: On the Run

After escaping the prison me and the Martian try to find a place to rest. After a short while just wandering around I start to hear a car. Me and the martian get down as quickly as possible but it's too late they saw us.

We hear them load their guns so we stay as low as possible. As they are shooting at us I realise that i've been hit but it had just bounced off. So I had an idea. I stood up and made it look like I was surrendering but as they were walking up to I charged at them. They shot at me but the bullets just kept bouncing off. After a minute of fighting them they were taken care of.

After a little more wandering I see an old barn so we walk over to check it out.

When we got there I noticed it was locked so I took a sip of the liquid and after it gave me some strength and I broke the lock clean in half.

Chapter Five: On the Run

When we got inside our jaws dropped. The barn contained everything we needed. There was motorcycles, tools, food, weapons, and a lab.

After we ate some food we got to work. With our combined knowledge of modern technology we started to fix up the barn and most importantly the motor cycles. When we were done with them they could travel at nearly the speed of light. And the weapons were strong enough to defeat a whole army.

Once we had settled down I decided to go to the lab to figure out what the strange liquid I had collected was. So I took out a testing vile and put a small sample of the liquid in. After waiting a few hours for results I finally heard the machine say it was done testing. When I looked at the results it said it was the purest most refined and potent form of an anabolic steroid called Tren. After making this discovery I asked the machine how I could make it and it told me it could only be gathered at an asteroid in an unknown location.

After thinking about it for a long time I knew what I needed to do .

Chapter Five: On the Run

I knew that I needed to return to the asteroid but I didn't know why. There was just this feeling I got that told me I needed to go back. Maybe it was for answers but I didn't quite know

I started the planning right away. First I gather all the scrap metal I could find so I could turn my motorcycle into a spaceship. Then I prepared some rations for the trip.

`Right as I was prepared to leave I felt a guilt. I knew that I couldn't just leave the martian but I also knew that I needed to go so I made a decision that could have changed my life.

After I decided to stay until the Martian Woke up to give him the option to come with me and maybe find answers to why we woke up on Earth.

Chapter Six: Almost There

It was around 5am when I started to hear things. I thought that I was going crazy at first but then I realized that they were still happening but they were getting louder. Then all of a sudden they started to shoot at us. I saw the martian leap out of bed and me and him dashed over to the armoury.

After fortifying our position we both took some of the last sips of the liquid. The second that the liquid hit my throat I felt the strength and the rage coursing through my body.

Even though the liquid gave me powers the battle still lasted hours. There was lots of blood shed. Just as we thought that we had almost finished them we heard more coming.

The second wave of soldiers was twice as powerful as the first and had at least 5 times more soldiers. When there was only about 20 soldiers left I realised that it was dark again. After another hour of battle the soldiers were all dead. We both knew that the effects of the liquid would be completely worn of within the hour so we packed up all the materials we could and got as far away as possible so we could work undisturbed.

When we finally found a clearing in a forest around 35 miles from then barn we decided to stay there. Once we got settled in I decided to tell the martian my plan. At first he was completely against it but after asking him if he would rather be stuck on earth for the rest of his life he agreed that we should go.

We started to get to work right away. First we assembled the ship. Then we gathered all the food and supplies that we needed. And finally we assembled a weapons system on the ship and gathered our weapons.

After getting a good night's rest we double checked all of our supplies and headed off..
