

Ooze: The Shattered Universe

A Dreamvale Story by Henry Kong

CERTIFIED DREAMVALE

Name: Ooze

Age: 21

Species: Inhuman

Gender: Male

Home Planet: Drakoria

Personality Traits

- Kind unless it's enemies
- Smart
- Locked in

Abilities

- Summoning
- Fast speed
- Electric blade

Moral Alignment

Lawful Good

Dream(s)

Protect the Earth

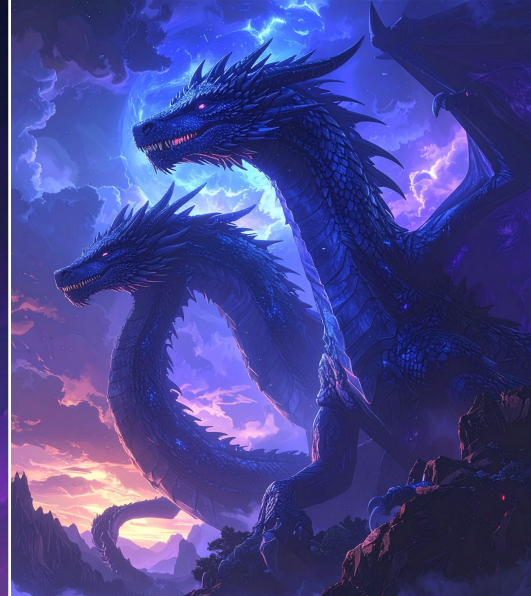

Fear(s)

Failing to save others

Backstory: Ooze was a young boy who was born with powers, making him inhuman as he discovered he can regenerate. He had a loving family, but didn't know who his dad was. His life growing up was normal like other humans, but he went to a hero facility at age 17 as he was a strong being at the time. He learned there from others and became the person he is today protecting others. But at age 19 his mother died from a villain who he fought back then. He was depressed as he couldn't save his mother, and still holds his guilt today. Even after that he still saves others so they don't have the same fate, building him up to a great hero.

Planet Drakoria

Hyper dragons, hydro serpents.

Fragmented shards

Coordinates (x, y)	16,000 - 10,000	Government Type	Monarchy
Population	15,567,000	Intergalactic Disposition	Neutral
Terrain	Purple and dark blue skies, and lots of water but some land.	Primary Race(s)	Inhuman, human, dragon types, water types.
Climate	Bright, windy (15 mph)	Primary Resource/ Technology	Electronic devices (submarines that last forever, heat proof suits that can survive a long time, flying cars that go 150 mph, advanced buildings that have flying stairs and transportations. Transportations that can fly through the universe and travel to other planets, and a Teleportation device.
Size	1.5	Description	Our planet was destroyed for a while but dragons came alive in the world, they were smart and talked as well. They rebuilding the world and now it's what it is because of the dragons. Now humans/inhumans enter the world, it took a while to get used to the dragons but they made their equals and got along.
Planetary Wildlife	Dragons, they are used for guardians, and trainers, they also travel l around the planets to keep shards safe.

Geward Fist 2.0

Draushe

Nano Fist

ATLA

Warping Geward

Origin Story: I named my item "Geward fist 2.0", this item can battle enemies and heal myself and others too. It can be used for healing potions and sickness during battle, even after battle too. I created it by using the nano tech and the Geward healing ability and mixed the healing ability into the nano tech, and shortly after made the nano fist, and added some healing samples into the fist to heal myself and others.

Appearance: Geward fist 2.0 look super advanced as technology around it is mixed with the healing ability. It is shiny and bright as the color is black/gray, the shine is light blue. .

● Self Heal

I can heal myself after battle with the nano fist that would have the Wrapping Geward in it. I could heal my sickness and injuries after battle. If enemies have poison abilities I can easily heal myself after, nearly making me invincible.

◆ Revive Touch

I can heal others the same as I heal myself. Like sickness, injuries, and illness. It has a little needle in it, but I just need to shoot the healing needle at them and they will be better and healthy.

★ Conditioner

The nano fist would check on others before he heals them to check their health and what they need healing for.

Ignis

Age: unknown

Species: Phoenix

Gender: Male

Home Planet: unknown

How we Met

Planet Draushe, the story where I was looking for my shards across the universe. He was flying around the planet being scared and confused where he was. I saw him and went to him as his wing was broken, I helped him and tagged him along my journey.

Ability #1: Wheel spin

Charges at an enemy at supersonic speeds, and mid-air he spins left to right super fast, and hits the enemy with a huge impact.

Ability #2: Flame charge

Charges his flame blast that is the color blue, the more it charges the stronger it gets. When he hits the enemy he burns them and they get stunned for a while if he charges for more than 1 minute.

Living Space: Places in Drakoria

The Kingdom of Drakoria

This kingdom is where the King of Planet Drakoria lives. The kingdom is surrounded by dragons to guard the kingdom everyday. The kingdom is huge on the outside and inside, but there is more to this kingdom inside as well.

Dragon Cave

This is where dragons sleep every night. They also use this for shelters or hiding spots when a treat is on the planet. The cave has a lot of food to last the dragons if they stay inside all day.

Training palace

This place is where dragons, inhumans, and humans train. This takes place in the sky so there is no destruction on the planet. Everyone trains here almost everyday to get stronger.

Chapter One: Guardian Of Drakoria

My name is Ooze. I grew up on a planet called Drakoria. I grew up with my parents. When I grew up on this planet, I learned many things from the dragons (aka my masters). They taught me every part of the planet and showed me every area of it. They taught me martial arts and combat when I was 10 - 12. When I mastered it, I soon found out I had powers and was inhuman, as my parents told me, and the dragons did as well. They didn't tell me this because I was too young and couldn't control my powers. Now I am strong and have learned martial arts and combat, and they told me the truth.

For the next 6 -7 years, I was mastering my powers with the dragons who still teach me. I learned lots of new things and fought villains on this planet. When I was 19, my mom died from a sickness from poison. I didn't get over it for a while, but I still kept going to get stronger and stronger so I could protect others.

I want to protect this planet; that's my goal for this world. There are these things called "fragmented shards." They are used to power the whole system of the planet; if we lose one fragment of it, the planet would power down and not be strong. That's why dragons guard it all the time, day and night. I hope we can protect this world as a whole and definitely make sure that the fragmented shards don't get stolen.

Chapter Two: Unknown Visitor

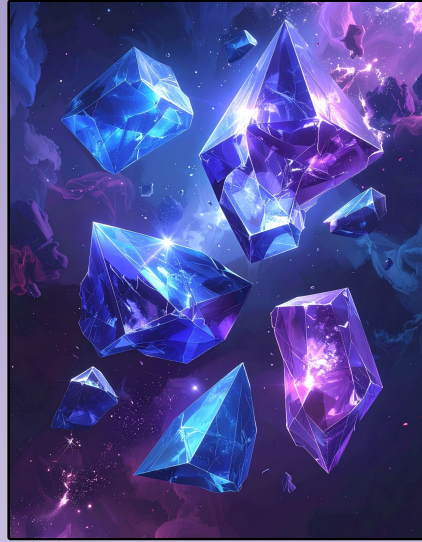

I am now 21 years old, and still mastering my powers. So far, the fragmented shards are safe, and the dragons are still teaching me lots of things. My dad has been working hard after my mom passed, and I have also. I've been getting way stronger and have fought lots of enemies who tried to take the shards. These past few days have been chill as I've been training almost every day. But one day, someone unknown from the universe came to our planet, a threat that has torn apart other planets. He came down to our planet and wanted our fragmented shards. The dragons, others, and I went to approach him as we wanted to take him out quickly.

The dragons flew at him and through flames, but the unknown person was too strong as he blocked them easily. He took them down one by one as each fell to him. He took one but two dragons, including my master, under his control. I fought him shortly after and was standing toe to toe with him for a while. But he easily defeated me as I saw him take the fragmented shard in my eyes.

He took 6 fragmented shards across the planet. 6 fragmented shards were all the shards, and he took them. Shortly after, he laughed and joked about how weak we were. After he left the planet, but without exploding it and causing destruction. I was angry because not only did he take my master, but he destroyed my planet. He didn't destroy all of it because he wanted more dragons. After I went to check on everyone and they were fine, I was furious tho. I needed to get those shards back; my planet was dead as no shards powered the world. I made a hard decision and had to go find him across the universe to get my master back, and to make my world whole again. Others disagreed, as I can't do anything against him. But the dragons agreed and said they would stay and protect the others. They gave me some clothing that would help me with my health and protection from anything. They also gave me a weapon if I need it in case. I got my stuff and blade and started my journey to heal my world. I use a spacecraft capable of traveling through the universe.

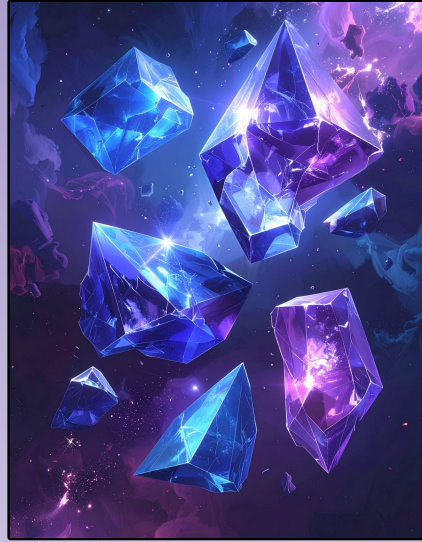

Chapter Three: The Hunt for the Shards

As I was gathering my things for the adventure of getting the shards back, someone told me that the shards were scattered across the universe. Knowing that, I thought to myself how hard it was going to be to find all of them. But thankfully, they had a shard tracker they never used and gave it to me, so my job was easier. Later in the day, I left my homeworld, saying goodbye to everyone. The first planet I felt close to and connected to was planet Loli. It took me about an hour to get there. As I got there, they all noticed me and greeted me. I said hi, but I needed to look for their master. They showed me the way there. When I got to the master's, he greeted me again, and after I told him I needed some help. I informed him of what happened, and after he told me some information about what he knows about it. He told me he destroyed other planets because they were so weak. He told me that his only respect for others is how strong they are; that's why he didn't destroy my planet. He seeks to take power from others, as he took my master's power. He took his 5 good senses and vision and used them for his own. After he told me the name of the unknown person. His name was "The Scourge". He told me where to go next, and he told me to go to planet Draushe for their nanotech.

After he informed me of everything he had, I left, saying goodbye to everyone as they helped me and greeted me. After I made my way towards Planet Draushe, I wondered why he told me to go there. But I suppose it's a good planet. When I got to planet Draushe, the people looked weird to me. They look like bugs and living insects. They could talk as well; they were scared at first, but I introduced myself to everyone. After they greeted me back, they told me why I was here. I told them I needed their nano tech for my adventure. They said it would be ready in no time, and I had to wait a while for it to be upgraded. While I waited, I explored the planet. It was colorful, peaceful, and pretty quiet. While I walked around, too, I noticed a shard from my planet! It looked exactly like the shard from my planet. I rushed back to the bugs and told them what I saw. They were confused and didn't know it had landed on their planet.

Chapter Three: The Hunt for the Shards

We went to take a look at the shard, and they instantly noticed that the shard wasn't theirs, and they didn't want it on their planet, because they didn't want any threats. I took the shard and safely put it in my spacecraft. After they told me I had to wait a day before I could take the shard. After a while, I noticed a phoenix flying around the planet. I watched the phoenix for a while and saw its abilities; it looked like nothing I expected, and flew over me. As I felt tired, I fell asleep as I was watching the Phoenix. The next morning, when I woke up, I noticed my spacecraft was gone. I searched everywhere for it and wondered who even took it. I heard a loud sound in the distance and went to where it was. It turns out the bugs took the spacecraft for more energy in their world, as long as the shard from my planet. I needed to sneak into the base and steal the shard and the spacecraft at the same time. I summoned some troops, including my strongest one. I used them as bait for the attack, as I used my invisibility cloak that the dragons gave me. When my troops went for the attack, I quickly dashed to the shard and took it out. The bugs didn't notice a bit, and when I noticed my spacecraft on the opposite side of the shard, I quickly went into it and took it out. My troops were holding off well and distracting them well. As I was gonna leave, I needed the nano fist. If I needed the nano fist, I needed to get past their guard. He was big and strong, but I could take him. He had a lot of guns, but I quickly took them out and sliced both his robot hands off before he could do anything. I quickly grabbed the nano fist and headed out to the next planet, because my tracker was in my spacecraft and I forgot to use it. As I quickly left the planet, I went straight to planet ALTA. I knew their planet well, and maybe they could give me some spells of theirs for my nano fist.

Chapter Four: The Shard King's Challenge

As I was getting close to ALTA, I was training with the nano fist and using it with my blades. It showed I was about there and was able to land whenever now. I landed in no time and greeted everyone. As their leader came up to me, I greeted him, and he greeted me back. I told him I needed their healing spell for my nano fist. They were confused because I never had a nano fist before.

I showed them the nano fist, and they were in love with it already. They told me that they will give me the healing spell right away. But first, they asked why. I told them I need to find all 6 shards across the universe to make my planet whole again. They understood the situation and immediately gave me their healing spell. After that, they provided food for me as it's been a while since I've ate something. I talked with a lot of people while eating my food. The food was delicious as always. After I ate, they of course gave me another plate to eat on my journey. I thank them, because I don't have any food in the spacecraft. After I said my goodbyes, I went on my tracker and noticed one of the shards is on their world. I told everyone, and we went to the location where the shard was. I was at the location and grabbed the shard as easily as ever. After I gathered it on my spacecraft and officially said my goodbyes to everyone as I was flying into space.

Chapter Four: The Shard King's Challenge

I looked at my tracker again, and one of the shards was on another planet named Lavarsi. I was stunned. Why did the shard even have to land there in the first place? Planet Lavarsi is a threat to other planets, is evil, and may be one of the most evil planets in the universe. When I was checking my tracker more, I noticed three of the shards were in the same area. I was confused, but I went on with it as it could be easier to get. After I got to planet Lavarsi, I noticed every single dragon was looking at me; they showed no mercy and fired their flames. I got up, jumped high, and hit one of the wing-legged dragons with my blade. There was a bunch of wing-legged dragons surrounding me as the king of the planet stood and looked at me. He had a shard and noticed it was mine. As he wanted me to battle the whole planet, and if I won, I would get the shard. What would I do, but without hesitation, I had to fight the planet. I summoned every troop, including my strongest troop, onto the battlefield and was ready for battle.

Chapter Five: Awakening Beyond Power

As I face off against the King of Larvarsi and his dragons, he orders them to charge at me. They were fast and strong, but my troops reacted fast as well, and the battle began. The king rushed towards me and slashed me with ease. I stood back up and fought back. We were giving each other blow after blow the whole fight, and my troops were actually giving their best and beating the dragons during that battle. As I knocked the king down, I went and dashed to the shard, but the king rushed towards me and punched me so hard I went across the whole planet.

As I landed, my rib was broken, but I had to fight. As he approached me, he was gonna end me here, but I dodged by instinct, and my aura grew as my nano fist, which I've been hiding, was in my hands. The king was shocked, and I threw the nano fist and punched the king in the stomach, making a blow through the whole planet. As I got up, I ran to the shard quickly, but the king was furious. His aura grew as well. I noticed his aura grow, and he was way faster than before. He punched me, but I dodged. It was all a decoy as his left hand was loaded with a powerful flame and punched me with it, throwing me back and onto the ground. As I was badly injured, and my burning, I forgot I had the Warping Geward on the nano fist and used it for myself. As I was healed, I felt way better, but the king was furious and came at me in a second. I reacted fast and parried him. I threw a counter punch back at him, and he flew after I dashed towards him and used my blade to cut off his fist so he wouldn't give the flaming blow towards me. After that, I used all my strength to throw him to the ground, making a huge sound throughout the planet.

Chapter Five: Awakening Beyond Power

After he came out in a new form, he was bigger and looked scarier than before. He had bigger wings, and his eyes were burning and bright red. He was furious this time and showed no mercy. He rushed towards me, but I reacted, but he still punched me so hard that I couldn't breathe for a few seconds. After he threw a huge flame ball at me, I held it still, but he came to me and punched me hard again. As I used my Warping Geward again, he was there really fast, and I blocked it. I was super mad at this point and used my full power to beat him. As I counterattacked him, I used my blade for the rest of the battle. We clashed for a while, and I was in pain but still had to fight. As the king was beating me, I was overwhelmed and couldn't handle the punches anymore. My aura grew once again, and my eyes were blue, and my aura was light blue as the king got scared for a few seconds. After I got serious and the king was feared for a few seconds, as I dashed towards him, I used my blade to slash his fist and arms, but he regenerated. I was already there to use his same ability, his flaming fist, and I used it to punch him. The king went flying back across the entire planet and made a full rotation back to me. As I grabbed him and was gonna finish him, he asked for mercy as he was fearing me, as he was scared as ever. As I grew stronger through the fight, I gave him no mercy and finished him in a split second with my blade, cutting him in half, and slashed him about 1,000 times to make sure he was done.

Chapter Five: Awakening Beyond Power

After my troops handled most of the dragons, they all feared me as I ended all of them in seconds. After I used my Warping Guard to heal myself, and after using my summon magic to make the king a troop of my own, like the other dragons. After I grabbed the shard, "The Scourge" was on the planet in the sky. I saw him with my two dragons from my home planet. I was furious when I saw him, and he laughed, calling me weak again. He had the last three shards of my home planet, but didn't give it to me, obviously, and dashed towards me without hesitation. As I reacted, I dodged nicely and punched him with my nano fist. After he was shocked, I gotta stronger. I didn't care much; I just wanted my shards and to go home. Without hesitation, I summoned my strongest troop and the king of Planet Lavarsi, as he was a troop of my own. All three of us were ready, and The Scourge laughed as I used my summon magic for the battle. He didn't care, though, because he was confident he would still win. As we charged at him, he used his speed to dodge our attacks and played around for a little bit. I dashed super fast at him and landed a blow in his face and used my blade to try to slash him, but he dodged again. I looked above, and he was already there and punched me straight to the ground.

Chapter Five: Awakening Beyond Power

After I used my power and my aura grew again, my eyes turned blue once again. I had to end the fight here and now to get the shards and go home. I used two blades as I was keeping it until I needed them and used them for the battle. I told my troops to protect the other shards, and I will handle The Scourge all by myself. The Scourge laughed and said I couldn't beat him alone. I didn't care, though. The Scourge also was gonna take the battle seriously as he noticed my aura was strong and I wasn't weak. He grabbed out his reaper that had a purple aura and a laser blade on the top. We both dashed to each other and clashed our blades against each other. I got serious and pushed him away, and I dashed super fast towards him, and he reacted late, and I hit a decent slash against him. After he was on guard with me, and I was ready for his next attack, I could see it clearly as my mind was in a flow state. He was hitting me with hard hits, but I was also hitting him with hard hits too. My power was growing throughout the battle.

Chapter Five: Awakening Beyond Power

The Scourge was laughing as he was getting serious, and I was getting serious as well. I was reacting faster than ever, and predicts his next moves. The more we fight, the more I can see his moves. He got scared and feared me for a second. As I was gonna land a blow, he slashed my hand off, but I used Warping Geward, and it healed my hand. I was so lucky I had the Warping Geward. When the Scourge got serious, he wanted to end the battle right then, so he used his full power and launched it all at me, but I used my summoning magic to summon shields to hold it back, and when the Scourge was weakened, I went in and rushed towards him, giving my full strength and landing a final blow to his stomach. He went flying across the planet and landed, in shock that he couldn't move. He didn't believe he would lose to me, and I walked towards him. He ran with fear as he was powerless, and I followed him and scared him. As he begs for mercy as the King did, I finished him off for what he's done in the universe.

Chapter Six: A Hero's Homecoming

After the battle, I was exhausted, but I used my Warping Geward, and I felt fine for now. After I grabbed my shards and got on the spacecraft, where my troops were. They protected it well, and I summoned them back. After I hopped in the spacecraft and headed home. But I forgot something, I forgot to get my master. I got him, but he was in bad condition. I also summoned “The Scourage” as a troop of my own as well. After I headed home fast and used Warping Geward on my master so he could be fine until we got there.

When I got home, everyone celebrated and was happy that I collected the shards back. After my master woke up and I was happy as ever, I gave him a huge hug, and he thanked me for saving him. After we located the locations for the shards and put them back. After everyone celebrated me and the home planet for being safe and whole again.