Chapter one: Guarding the Girl

Hi, I'm Macie Firethorn. I live on a planet called Eldoria. This planet is mostly wizards like me, but not all are. I've always lived here, but not with the same people. When I was young, I was taken from my family. My new family, I never really saw much of them. They seemed nice, but they always distanced themselves from me, and ever since, I've been trying to find them. I don't remember much about them or who they are, but I do know that my dad is a wizard, and my mom isn't.

While growing up, I started to learn about the powers that I have and the spells I can do, the thing I'm best at is spells on my wand, but as I got older, I realized that I have powers that most wizards don't have, like how I'm pyrokinetic, which means I can control fire and make fire, and I can heal people. I've been trying to find my family for a long time, but after a while, I gave up because I felt as if it was a lost cause.

Chapter Two: The Life I Never Knew

After some thinking, I decided it was time to really find my family. I had found out that my dad's name is Conrad Firethorn. So I started in my Native soil. I thought that maybe I could get lucky and they would be somewhere near me. But I never had any success, now I'm traveling around my planet searching through different villages. I had gotten to a village called Celestia Point. I wasn't expecting much, seeing as how I've had bad luck. It was a long way there, because this village was almost across the whole planet, but I was determined to find my father and mom. I was going door to door looking for them when I got to the last house in the village. Knock Knock, then someone answered the door. It was a tall, slim man.

"Hi, my name is Macie. Are you Conrad?" It took him a minute to answer, but then he said,

"Yes, yes, I am. How can I help you?"

I was relieved that I found my dad, but it was a lot to take in for both of us.

"Hi, I'm your daughter. I was taken from you and my mom when I was young." At first, I was scared he wasn't going to believe me, but he did. We were catching up for some time. But then I decided it was time to ask about my mom, which is when he shifted and almost looked scared and uncomfortable before he said,

"Your mom lives on a different planet, I don't know which one, but I do know it's a fairy planet. And she likes to wear ehhhh purple." It was starting to get late, so I knew it was time to start traveling home because I had to go to school.

Chapter two: The life I Never Knew (continued)

I had gotten home, and I noticed everyone seemed tired, a lot more than usual. I started asking around, and everyone was saying they weren't getting much sleep. I had brushed it off, not realizing that it would become a bigger problem.

It was time to go to school, and I was a little worried because everyone seemed off still, and I even noticed I wasn't getting much sleep either. Once I was at school, I couldn't stop thinking about where my mom is. My dad didn't tell me a lot about where she is or who she is. I knew that if I wanted to find her, I was going to have to search through many planets, no matter how far. He said she lives on a fairy planet. Does that mean she's a fairy, or is she something else just living there? I chose not to think about it that much, seeing as I don't know a lot yet. Once school was over and I was able to go home,

I wanted to start researching the universe to see if I could get an idea of where all the fairy planets are and how long it would take to get there. Once I got home, I started to look for different planets in the universe, and I found one planet called Flouritta. It looks like it could be a fairy planet, but I don't know.

Chapter 3: The unexpected adventure

I knew I wanted to get there, but I didn't know how. I need to find a way to fly there. I was thinking of what to do when I remembered that I could use a specific spell to teleport. It's really hard to learn, but luckily, one of my teachers taught it to me because she knows my situation.

The only downside to using the teleportation spell is that it uses so much of your energy. Then, I decided to tell my dad about the plan, but then he reminded me that I need to take someone or something with me. I thought that if I took the phoenix mixed with a dragon, or phegan with me, it would be able to protect me if I came into trouble, but it's also easy to feed and take care of. I started thinking about when I would leave, what I would bring, and how I would find her. I still didn't know all the way what I wanted to do when I got there, but I figured I could think about that when it comes time.

I was worried that when I get there im going to run into trouble, like if its a bad planet or people aren't welcoming to me being there. I don't know much about the planet either; it could look like an amazing, welcoming place, but then it's not.

I was almost ready to leave, but then I remembered that I was going to bring a family heirloom, so that way, if I don't come back, I will have something with me. I went and said my goodbyes and got my phegan, and then I started getting ready to start my spell.

Chapter 4: Into the Unknown world

It took me a couple of tries to master teleportation. When I was able to start teleporting, I remember feeling so disoriented as the magic was traveling through the universe; it almost didn't feel real. I knew it wasn't going to be a fast travel, but this almost felt too slow, like something was slowing it down. I was trying to ignore it, thinking that maybe that's just how it is. But then I noticed that all the planets I was passing seemed off, either too dark or too sad. I tried not to think about it until it came to an abrupt stop. It wasn't the planet I was meant to be on.

I was looking around, and I noticed that the planet looked like it was meant to be full of life and happiness, but now it's dark, and I don't see many people. When I finally saw someone, and I asked what was going on with all these planets. The lady had told me.

“It's this big nightmare spreading through the universe, and causing people to lose sight of their dreams and any other side effects it can cause.”

I was worried about how that could affect me with my traveling, but I knew that I needed to start up again soon. I went to make sure that my phegan was ok before I started the spell again.

It became time to start up again, but it took me many tries to be able to, I thought that it was the nightmare affecting it. I was finally able to get going again, and this time it seemed a lot faster. I was sure that I was out of the nightmare's territory. I noticed how quiet the universe was; it was so peaceful, although there were moments when I felt weird because of the teleporting. I realized that I was getting close to the planet that I was trying to go to, but then I noticed that it seemed like it was in one of the nightmare territories.

I noticed that once I got into the territory, the teleporting process felt off again. I became very nauseous, and it felt like my body was lagging behind my mind. I started to feel this weird sensation of dread, which is when I knew that the nightmare was more powerful than I thought. I reminded myself of the good things to help me forget about it. I realized that I was closer to the planet than I thought, and I knew it was time to brace myself in case the landing was hard.

Chapter five: Into the Fire

I didn't realize I landed, but then I woke up lying on the ground with an ache in my head. I looked around, and I saw Nova, my phegan, standing over me, looking confused. I looked farther back, and I saw three different fairies staring at me. I had guessed that this was where I was meant to be. Before I could even get up, this one fairy came up to me, and she said

“Hi i’m Valori Pretty Pebbles. Who are you?” At first, I was a little nervous, but she seemed nice, so I waved it away.

“Hello, my name is Macie Firethorn, I’m a wizard.” She seemed like she was confused, then she decided that she was going to take me to the queen.

I was scared that the queen wasn't going to welcome me, but when I walked in there and told her my situation, she wanted to help me look. The queen and I were talking about how we were gonna find my mom, which is when a couple of fairies frantically ran into the room, and they all yelled,

“THE EVIL FAIRIES ESCAPED!!!” I didn't know what that meant. She started to seem upset when the queen started to explain to me that a couple of years ago, some fairies had all turned evil and started this big war between the good and the bad. After the war ended, they locked them all away on a separate island, and they broke out.

The queen eagerly suggested that I help them fight, and I knew that would mean I would need more wizards to come. I had asked some to come well, we prepared for the big fight. I saw the fairies all coming toward us. I noticed that it wasn't only fairies, though there was something darker with them. The wizards made it just in time, so we knew it was time to fight. They all came running at us, and before any of us fairies could do anything, my phegan nova blew a big whiff of fire at them all, which knocked half of the evil fairies down.

Chapter : Into the Fire

I knew it was time for me to use my powers, so I made a big wall of fire to slow them down. As the wall of fire surged up in front of us, it was creeping closer to the horde of evil fairies. I heard their shrieks as some of them fled. Some of the fairies and the nightmares were still coming to fight. As they got closer to the fire, the fairies' wings were starting to singe. After the fairies realized they couldn't do anything, they slowly crept away in defeat and a mix of fear. We thought it was over, but it wasn't; there were still monsters from the nightmare. They were stronger than I had thought. The queen and the fairies were doing their best to fight them off. Finally, another wizard stepped up and cast a spell on them to banish them.

I was happy the fight was over, I was almost going to leave till the queen came up to me, reminding me that we were still going to look for my mom. I was confused about how we were going to do that, but before I could think about it more, the fairy from before Valori Pretty Pebbles came up to me. She told me how she was happy I came when I did to help them, and she wanted to help me look for my mom. The queen decided she was going to announce the whole village.

She said through these big speakers, “ If there is anyone who is missing a daughter, come to my office.” I wasn't expecting many people to come, and I was right, only three fairies came flying in. When they came in, there was one that looked a lot like me. I learned that her name is Misty and her daughter got taken from her on a different planet called Eldoria. I knew she was my mom the second she said that. I almost pinched myself because it felt like a dream that I was meeting her.

I was looking around, trying to find all the other wizards. I didn't know where they were, so I figured that they all teleported back, then I was walking around looking for Nova My Phegan, which is when I found her getting treats and all these things from the fairies.

Chapter six: Home sweet home

I was getting ready to start teleporting, but then Misty and Valori asked if they could come with me to see my planet. I hesitated for a moment, not knowing if it was a good idea that they came with me back home. They kept insisting, so I allowed them to come with. I didn't know how teleporting was going to go, but it was a smooth way back. We finally landed, and I had just stood there taking it all in. A big rush of emotion came over me since I had just been through a lot. I turned around to see that they were shocked to see how lively and beautiful my planet was.

Misty had said to me, “When I lived here, this planet was sad. I thought that having you would make it better, but you were taken. I've never seen it this healthy and lively.” I had replied to her saying, “This is only the beginning there is so much more for us to explore.” I knew that in the end, going to Flouritta to find her, even through the hard parts, was worth finding my real family.

The end!!
